

Programme Maker: Ellie Catherall

My name is Ellie Catherall, I'm 20 years old and have just finished my second year at King's College London studying Spanish with English. The study of languages and the processes involved in foreign language acquisition is very interesting to me, as well as the study of other cultures. The RadioVoz project was perfect for me as it brought together these two interests along with a journalistic and documentary element. In the future I want to make documentaries or write about our world and raise awareness of issues that are important. I believe studying languages is crucial to true understanding and learning which is why I think the Language Acts and Worldmaking project is so important and also why I've chosen to be an English Language Assistant with the British Council during my upcoming year abroad in Chile.
